Update from the Sinepost editor

Sorry for the barebones Sinepost. I'm trying to create a template and then add the usual regular content into it in modules that I can update when needed. That is proving to be a bit more of a challenge than I expected. What I'm struggling with is getting all of the sidebar content to lineup and display properly. I'll keep plugging at it until I get it right.

Since it has been so long since the Sinepost was regularly published all of the content from previous issues, such as the event calendar, is so out of date. I have to recreate it from scratch.

To make the Sinepost worth reading I need content from my fellow club members. Please email me any articles and other items of interest. My email address is Jonas217@verizon.net .

Thank you.
